INFORMATION CIRCULAR*

To: Members of the staff

From: The Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management

Subject: UNITED NATIONS SABBATICAL LEAVE PROGRAMME FOR THE YEAR 1999

1. The purpose of the present information circular is to inform staff that a sabbatical leave programme will again be offered in 1999.

Objectives of the programme

2. The objectives of the programme are:

(a) To provide an opportunity for staff members to bring added value to their contribution to the Organization and to enhance their professional growth through the pursuit of studies and research projects on issues related to the work of the United Nations;

(b) To enhance dialogue and build contacts between the United Nations and other organizations and institutions engaged in related work worldwide, as well as to expose United Nations staff members to state-of-the-art research and practices on issues on the international agenda.

Conditions

3. Pending the issuance of an administrative instruction on this subject, the terms and conditions of the award of a sabbatical leave will be the same as those set out in information circular ST/IC/1996/41 of 11 July 1996. Of particular importance are the following features:

* Expiration date of the present information circular: 31 December 1999.

 Personnel Manual index No. 4478.

(a) The programme is open to United Nations staff members with at least five years of service with the Organization and who are expected to serve for no less than five years after the completion of the sabbatical leave;

(b) Interested staff members are responsible for identifying the institution or organization in which they propose to carry out their studies and for securing their acceptance by that institution or organization for the purpose of carrying out the proposed studies at a specified time, which should be during the year for which the sabbatical leave was approved;

(c) In addition to universities and independent institutions worldwide, including participating research and training centres of the United Nations University (UNU) and institutions that are members of the Academic Council on the United Nations System, study projects may also be pursued in other relevant organizations and institutions. Staff members may wish to consult the list of institutions that are members of the Academic Council on the United Nations System in annex II and the list of participating research and training centres of the United Nations University in annex III;

(d) The sabbatical leave will normally be approved for a period of no more than four months, during which the staff member will be asked to take annual leave for the first month and will subsequently be placed on special leave with full pay, subject to the agreement of the head of the department or office concerned.

Application procedures

4. Applicants are requested to complete the application form in annex I to the present circular and submit it, through their respective head of office or department, together with a proposal describing the study that they wish to pursue to the Staff Development and Learning Service, Office of Human Resources Management, by 30 October 1998.

5. The proposal, which should not exceed four pages, should contain the following information:

(a) Title of the study;

(b) Field of the study;

(c) Rationale for the study;

(d) Relationship of the study to the work of the individual and to the work of the Organization;

(e) Outline of topic or topics to be covered;

(f) Study and/or research activities and methods to be applied;

(g) Schedule of work of the study with an indication of any preparatory work already accomplished;

(h) Usefulness of the expected outcome of the study and its practical implications for the individual and the Organization;

(i) Type of contribution the participant could provide to the institution or organization in which he or she is placed;

(j) Endorsement by the head of office or department responsible for the work of the applicant during the proposed study.

Applicants should indicate in the application form the name and address of the institution or organization in which they wish to carry out their study project, specifying the type of support services and facilities that the institution or organization is prepared to provide during the period of the sabbatical leave.

Review of proposals

6. All proposals will be evaluated on the basis of the following criteria:

(a) Importance of the study. The proposed study should address an issue of importance in the field under consideration and should hold potential interest for the institution or organization in which the study is carried out and for the United Nations. It should be relevant and have practical applications to the current and future work of the United Nations and to the current or future responsibilities of the applicant;

(b) Feasibility of the proposed study. The staff member should propose a project that can be undertaken and completed within the stipulated period of the sabbatical leave;

(c) Appropriateness of the planned methodology;

(d) Quality of the proposal. The staff member should demonstrate in the proposal an awareness of the latest developments in the area of study;

(e) Suitability of the candidate, including demonstrated ability to perform independent work. The assessment will be made on the basis of:

(i) The staff member's qualifications and/or experience; and

(ii) Information received from references provided by the applicant (see annex I, sect. B.III);

(f) Potential contribution by the staff member to the institution or organization;

(g) Expected usefulness of the completed study to the United Nations.

Selection process

7. A selection committee consisting of United Nations staff and representatives of UNU and the academic community will review the proposals submitted for final selection.

8. Heads of offices and/or departments will be consulted by the Office of Human Resources Management to confirm the release of selected staff members. The selected staff member will then be informed and requested to accept in writing the specified conditions of the award.

Follow-up

9. In order to assess the impact of the sabbatical leave programme, participants are expected, at the end of their sabbatical leave, to present to the head of the office or department concerned and to the Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management a report on the study undertaken.

UNITED NATIONS UNIVERSITY PARTICIPATING CENTRES

Under its Charter, adopted by the General Assembly in 1973, the United Nations University (UNU) is a voluntarily funded autonomous organ of the General Assembly that engages in research, postgraduate training and the dissemination of knowledge on pressing global problems of human survival, development and welfare that are the concern of the United Nations and its agencies. UNU is organized on a networking principle. The University headquarters in Tokyo, through its Academic Division, coordinates a number of programmes and project networks. UNU research and training centres conduct in-house research and training and coordinate research and training involving institutions in many countries.

The location of specific UNU research and training activities and the respective fields of study where staff members on sabbatical leave might consider pursuing study projects at UNU include:

1. At UNU headquarters, Academic Division, in Tokyo:

   Peace and governance

   Sustainable development

2. At the UNU Institute of Advanced Studies (UNU/IAS) in Tokyo:

   Eco-restructuring for sustainable development

   Mega-cities and urban development

   Multilateralism and governance

3. At the UNU World Institute for Development Economics Research (UNU/WIDER) in Helsinki:

   Economics of transition

   Liberalization and development in sub-Saharan Africa

   Institutional and distributive issues

   International finance and economic issues

   Global governance

4. At the UNU Institute for New Technologies (UNU/INTECH) in Maastricht, the Netherlands:

   Socio-economic implications of new technologies
